

LABOR MOVING FOR SUPPORT OF LA FOLLETTE

Will Swing Behind Gompers In Endorsing Wisconsin Man.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 2.—With virtually all obstacles swept aside, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor meeting here behind closed doors was swinging through final steps today to units organization of labor's support behind the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette.

The early sessions of the council having clearly indicated that Samuel Gompers, ill and aged president of the federation still holds complete control over the organization, their leaders are freely predicting the council will, at the most, only a mild show of opposition, would accede to its chief's wishes to bring the federation's three million members into line for La Follette and Wheeler.

Gompers pointed out that endorsement of the Wisconsin leader would not definitely tie up the organization with the new party but would apply only to La Follette and Wheeler, leaving the federation free to support candidates of other parties for other offices.

Atlantic City, Aug. 2.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has taken its first official step toward endorsing Senator Robert La Follette's presidential candidacy.

The special political committee presented a report recommending that the governing council advise workers of the nation to cast their ballots for the independent candidates and against the two major parties. This committee is headed by Samuel Gompers.

Consideration of the report was the first business before the council of 11 labor chieftains who assembled here to advise its 3,000,000 voting members as to which political candidates they consider will best serve the desires of labor, if they are elected.

Members of the council, while they stand behind Gompers' declaration that the federation would maintain its traditional nonpartisanship in the 1924 campaign, declared they could properly endorse La Follette and Wheeler, as long as the endorsement was confined to candidates and refrained from pledging fealty to any national political party. It was disclosed that the report of the political committee on major party platform and presidential and vice presidential candidates would be the only report submitted to the council.

Matthew Wolf of the Photo Engravers' union and vice president of the executive council, drafted the report of the political committee. Besides making such an analysis of party platforms and candidates as the labor federation has made in other presidential years, the report contains specific reference to the response of the national parties to the federation's demand, framed at the last session of the council in Montreal, that the Republican and Democratic parties give greater consideration to labor in hewing the planks for their respective platforms.

POLICE VIGILANT AFTER KLAN WAR

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 2.—Reports that an attempt would be made to deliver from the hands of the police the two men arrested at last night's Ku Klux Klan gathering at Shrewsbury when they were brought for arraignment in Worcester court today prompted police to be more extraordinarily vigilant. At the Shrewsbury meeting, Captain George A. Parker, of the state police and about two score of his troops were present.

Automobiles approaching the meeting place were stopped. If the occupants could not give a good explanation of their presence, they were searched for arms.

Revolvers, clubs and other implements of offense or defense were seized.

Thomas Sorensen, who said he was from South Lancaster, was arrested carrying two blades. The other man arrested, Albert Olsen of Worcester was carrying a piece of rubber hose, three feet long and filled with lead fittings.

ALLEGES BROTHERS SLEW THEIR PARENTS

Below: MRS. ELIZABETH PENNYPACKER & MARK E. DORSCHELMER.

Arthur and Benjamin Dorschelmer, wealthy business men, are held without bail in Gap, Pa., charged by another brother, Frank E. Dorschelmer, with the murder of their parents ten years ago. The elder Dorschelmers were found dead in their gas-filled home in Lancaster, Pa., and the deaths were ascribed to accident. Frank E. Dorschelmer now alleges his brothers confessed they turned on the gas. They indignantly deny the charges, declaring their brother was inspired by "spirits." Their sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pennypacker, of Philadelphia, is to be a witness.

TWO PICTURES OF SLAYERS OF YOUTH ARE PAINTED BY ATTORNEYS IN COURT ROOM

Alienists of Defense Display Leopold and Loeb as Two Small Boys—Crows Answers in Scornful Sarcasm.

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 2.—Both Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard A. Loeb were "intellectually capable" of choosing between right and wrong on the day they kidnaped Little Bobby Franks, bashed his head with a cold chisel and hid his body in an isolated culvert but "morally they had no feeling attitude about it."

This conclusion was drawn from Dr. William A. White one of the alienists retained by the boys' wealthy families today, on cross examination by State's Attorney Crows.

That was as far as Crows could get in pinning "legal responsibility" on the two young slayers through their own alienist.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Two pictures of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard

A. Loeb, the gay young collegians, who kidnaped and killed Little Bobby Franks, "just for a thrill," were hung today in Judge John R. Caverly's crowded courtroom, where they face the noose or a lifetime in prison for their crime.

One of them was painted by medical science. It displays "Dicky" and "Babe" as two small boys, emotionally about five years of age, still living in a world of phantasy, a dream world peopled by cowboys, detectives, jam and shelland ponies. "This was hung in the courtroom by the lawyers and alienists who are seeking to save their necks from the noose."

The other picture was painted by the state of Illinois. It represents the slayers as grown up men, intellectual, sophisticated, educated, wealthy and sane, and responsible under the law for what the agents of the state describe as the most diabolical, cold blooded murder in the history of American criminality.

The choice between these two paintings lies with Judge John R. Caverly.

"They are not murderers," said State's Attorney Robert Crows, with a fine scorn, in his voice. "They are little boys caught in the pantry stealing jam. That is not blood on their hands, it is jam."

"They are just two little boys who still believe in Santa Claus."

And the state's attorney puts a final dab of paint on the picture.

"Bunk," he says.

GASOLINE TRAINS TO REPLACE STEAM

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Gasoline motor trains will replace the steam-drawn cars of trains Nos. 2 and 3 between Indianapolis and St. Louis, Big Four officials announced. Trains Nos. 7 and 8, between Mattoon and St. Louis, also will be replaced with the new equipment. Each train will consist of a motor and trailer. Big Four officials say the new equipment will mean a large saving and can better meet competition with suburban lines.

REPARATIONS AGREEMENT IS NOW REACHED

Settlement Made On All Points—Big Seven Now in Conference

London, Aug. 2.—After a plenary session of two and one half hours by the allied reparations commission, Colonel J. A. Logan, official American observer, announced this afternoon that an agreement had been reached upon all points.

The "big seven"—heads of the delegations, the latter went into conference to decide the terms of the invitation to Germany.

The plenary session adopted the reports of the first and third committees, but the question of the future status of the Ruhr railways was left to the "big seven" for adjustment.

It was decided that there should be the right of appeal from the transfer transfer Germany's reparations payment committee, the committee which will be sent to the allied governments.

A committee of jurists was appointed to draft regulations for appeal from the committee.

It is expected that the invitation to the Germans will be sent to Berlin this evening.

London, Aug. 2.—The inter-allied conference reached agreement in committee on the subject of possible modification of the experts' plan.

Committee No. 3, however, struck a snag when it came to the question of arranging for cash deliveries instead of deliveries in kind in case the latter became too heavy for France. If the deadlock on this question of cash deliveries, one of the new points raised by the French delegation, is maintained, the matter will be referred to the chief delegates.

The first committee of the conference approved a proposal that successive tribunals must declare Germany has willfully defaulted before France or anyone else takes separate action. It is believed this will prevent a repetition of the Ruhr affair. No one believes that under the present circumstances France would exercise her prerogative for separate action should the impartial tribunals disappoint.

The chairman of the conference today extended an invitation to the Germans to come to London as soon as possible. The mission from Berlin, however, is not expected to arrive before Tuesday, for it is anticipated that Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, will delay its departure until he has had an opportunity to talk with Charles E. Hughes, the American secretary of state, who is to visit the German capital.

THEATER SEASON TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 23 WITH GOOD BOOKING

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," stage adaptation of a favorite novel, will open the Xenia legitimate theatrical season at the City Hall Theater September 9, it is announced by J. D. Adair, of the Standard Amusement company, which has the house under contract.

The management has been assured the production is by a first class company. "Abie's Irish Rose," which has probably created more favorable comment all over the country than any other contemporary stage offering, has been booked for three nights, October 23, 24 and 25.

The production last season ran many weeks in Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and other cities where a week's stand is usually the limit for any production and has been voted by the public one of the most popular offerings of recent times.

The enormously staged motion picture, "The Ten Commandments," will arrive in Xenia shortly after its first release from New York, September 23, when it will be shown with elaborate "props" at the City Hall Theater. The production by Cecil de Mille is said to rival "The Covered Wagon" in interest and is said to have done $4,000 a week more business in New York than its predecessor. The picture will be produced here with its own orchestra.

FOURTEEN HURT IN COLLISION OF CLEVELAND CARS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 2.—Fourteen persons are in hospitals here as the result of a rear end collision on the Rapid Transit Railway system during the rush hour this morning.

None of the injured are considered serious.

Miss Mildred Allhouse, Chagrin Falls, suffered a broken leg and possible internal injuries.

The wreck occurred when a Shaker Heights express train crashed into the rear end of a Moreland Circle car which was standing on a bend out of sight.

According to witnesses the motor-man of the express train applied his brakes but was unable to stop the car in time to avoid the crash.

Upwards of fifty passengers in the rear car of the Moreland train saved themselves from injury by jumping when some one sounded a warning of the approaching express.

This is the second wreck to occur on the Rapid Transit lines within the past several weeks, and passengers remembering this, started in a mass for exits. Several women and children were badly bruised and scratched in the rush.

BRIBERY CHARGE IS QUASHED BY COURT

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Judge Miller sustained a motion of Police Prosecutor Chester to quash the charge against Evan C. Reed, brother of Chaplain T. O. Reed of the Ohio penitentiary. Reed was charged with accepting $300 from the wife of a convict in the penitentiary and with having pretended falsely to her that he would get her husband out of prison. Judge Miller ruled that the affidavit filed against Reed was insufficient in the allegation "that Reed had the influence to obtain the release" of the prisoner. There was, therefore, no false representation made by Reed, the court ruled.

DEFENSE DAY ORDER UPHELD BY COOLIDGE

President Answers Query Of Governor Charles Bryan

Lincoln, Neb., Aug. 2.—President Coolidge in a message to Governor Charles Bryan defended the war department's order for observance of national defense day. He denied that the war officials' plans for defense day contemplated a disruption of business in any way. The president said: "The people of the several states are expected to participate in accordance with such opportunity as they may have for a patriotic demonstration. Plans for the patriotic demonstration are dependent on state and local desires and are intended to be purely voluntary. While the plans of General Duncan for the patriotic exercise should guide all components of the army of the United States, the plans for patriotic demonstration are dependent on state and local desires and are intended to be purely voluntary."

President Coolidge held that the message of General Duncan made clear the attitude of the war department, which he fully endorsed. The president said he was "informed" that the war department plans contemplated "a practice by all military forces and officials, national, state and local, associated with steps necessary to demonstrate the defense policy enacted by congress." "In this connection," he said, "a patriotic demonstration has been suggested, to be participated in as desired by state and local communities."

MINING SITUATION IS NOW IMPROVING IN SOUTHERN OHIO

Columbus, Aug. 2.—Changes in the rules and regulations which govern miners and operators in the southern Ohio coal fields, agreed to two weeks ago in conference between the miners and operators, are having some effect in bettering the situation in the southern Ohio mining district, according to Lee Hall, president of District No. 6, United Mine Workers of America. The changes do not affect the basic wage scale in the district, Hall says. However, it has been agreed that cleaner coal be mined so that a wider market for the Ohio fuel will be opened. The classification rule, which provided that a miner could do only one sort of work, has been abolished. The miner now may do any work assigned to him. Pay of the miners has also been placed in ratio to the size of the vein in which he works.

ten Bay, off Scotland, Aug. 2.—(By Radio)—The American destroyer Billings reported by wireless this afternoon that, Lieutenant Erik Nelson was seen off the Orkney Islands this afternoon, flying in the direction of Iceland.

The foregoing dispatch was received in London from the Richmond at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Faroe Islands are 225 miles from Kirkwall, or almost half-way to Iceland.

Kirkwall, Orkney Islands, Scotland, Aug. 2.—A sudden fog which arose United States army round the world above the north Atlantic after the flyers had left Houton Bay at 9:35 o'clock for Iceland, separated the aviators and upset plans for today's leg of the long flight.

Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the flight commander and Lieutenant Leigh Wade lost Lieutenant Erik Nelson in a fog bank, twenty-five miles off the Orkneys and returned to Houton Bay. They did not know if Nelson continued his journey or tried to turn back to the starting point.

Weather conditions were favorable early in the day but Smith was delayed for nearly an hour, getting his plane to rise from the water and when

WAS IMMIGRANT
Kirkwall, Aug. 2.—First Lieutenant Erik Nelson, American aviator, girdling aviator, who became separated from his companions in a fog shortly after leaving Houton Bay, for Iceland today, is a native of Scandinavia. He went to the United States fifteen years ago and was naturalized as an American citizen in 1914. His plane, number three, is called the New Orleans.

the aviators finally did get away towards Houton Bay, fog had begun to gather. The aviators were soon lost to sight in the haze over the water.

After waiting forty-five minutes for Nelson's return, Lieutenant Smith expressed belief that Nelson was proceeding to Iceland alone.

Residents of Kirkwall were surprised when at 11:15 o'clock, an American airplane was seen flying low over the town.

Two minutes later a second plane appeared which was identified as that of Lieutenant Smith. A weighted bag was dropped from the second machine. While a crowd rushed through back yards searching for the bag, a second one was dropped, which landed the feet of Major Davidson, aerial attaché to the U. S. embassy in London.

Major Davidson was standing upon the quay at the time. The bag was hastily opened and was found to contain a note saying that Lieutenant Erik Nelson had become separated from his companions in the fog and was missing.

Immediately after the return of Smith and Wade, the Richmond sent wireless messages to the destroyers Billings and Reid and the cruiser Raleigh that Nelson was missing and was believed to be on his way to Iceland alone. The vessels were asked to keep a keen watch for the aviator.

It was regarded as possible that Nelson might land in the Faroe Islands. The Billings is stationed off the Faroes, while the Reid is half way between the Orkneys and Iceland.

VALUE OF SULPHUR LICK REDUCED TO TEMPT PURCHASER

The appraised value of Sulphur Lick Springs, at Chillicothe, which originally was placed at $30,500, has been lowered to $18,500 in a new appraisal made this week.

Under the new appraisal the hotel will be offered to the highest bidder August 30. Two previous efforts to sell the hotel and ninety acres of land proved fruitless because no one would bid the required two-thirds of the appraised value.

COURT NEWS

JUDGMENT GIVEN

In the case of The Miami Cereal Co. against The Strawn Press Company, in Common Pleas Court, the court has authorized Harry D. Smith, receiver for the Strawn Company to apply certain funds which he will receive from The Air Friction Carburetor Company of Dayton, on the account of C. R. Hinkle with the receiver.

MODISH MITZI—He Couldn't Tell Them By Their Hats

By Jay V. Jay

It's a hot day and the Goofer is looking for company—anyone who will let him express himself about the weather. This must be something new, he thinks, admiring Mitzi's large midsummer hat of leghorn straw with a trill of buttons around the edge of the brim.

Another good looking hat. (It belongs to Polly.) Almost anyone might be hidden under it. Shall he walk around and peer under the brim? It's not the sort of thing the Goofer goes in for. However it is a stunning hat—of rose colored horsehair trimmed with sprawling flat French flowers of metallic ribbon.

And why should this hat (which is Eleanor's) have a brim that completely hides the face? And is it the face of a friend or of a strange young woman who would say "Sir!" to him? The hat, really charming, is of milan with a ruffle of rose colored ribbon.

The Goofer has solved it. He stood in the most conspicuous place possible, the middle of the terrace, and removed his hat. Then he waited. All three of the hats have come out to rescue him from sunstroke. Of course his reputation as a complete

TEN YEARS AGO

Ten years ago the Austrian Empire, ruled by the Hapsburgs, declared war on Serbia. Behind Austria stood Germany ready for the work of death. Within ten days a four-year hell was let loose on earth.

It was followed by a six-year purgatory that still endures. The House of Hapsburg has gone. So have the House of Hohenzollern and the Glucksburgs of Greece. The Romanoffs have passed to explore the shadows of obscure graves and the dust of a dead empire. Europe's map has changed. New little states struggled for life in the war wreckage that covers more than 10,000,000 fighting men's graves. In part Europe is a world of phantom cities, ghostly villages and the wraiths of men and life of yesterday.

The eruption that shook the world has ended; but the crust forming over the lava beds of hate and fear is very thin, and the fires underneath cool slowly. The stability of that remade world is uncertain.

But at the end of ten years it is plain that lasting peace can be assured only by the removal of the real obstacles to peace. The injustice done France and Belgium by their war comrades and by the unrepentant German is such an obstacle. The failure to give France the security she must have against another avalanche of steel from the north is another. Six years of conferences have not availed, nor will sixty years of talk without action change a situation that is vital with human feelings and with human history.

GERMANY EATS DUST UNDER AGREEMENT RESTORING COMMERCIAL RELATIONS

Germany has eaten dust as a result of the diplomatic conflict with Russia over the Bozenhard incident in May.

In a protocol signed in Moscow by Foreign Minister Tchitcherine and Ambassador Brockdorf-Rantzau and in Berlin by Foreign Minister Stresemann and the Soviet Charge d' Affaires, Germany admits the police action in invading the Russian Trade Commission headquarters, in pursuit of the fugitive German Communist agitator, was illegal and regrettable, the official chiefly responsible for the action and agree that the other officials involved shall be punished.

Germany says the incident arose from the unauthorized action of the police, who had insufficient reasons for their search, and further declares herself prepared to render reparations for material damages.

The Russian Government merely repeats its promise not to interfere in the internal politics of Germany, declaring it will prohibit all Russian officials engaged in any governmental agency from participating in German political life, but will not extend such prohibition to Germans engaged on the Russian staff.

However, although Russo-German trade is not so immense as to be a decisive factor in normal times, its loss has been felt by Germany since the incident caused a break in trade relations. Russia has waged an effective trade war, with Scandinavian and Dutch ports as bases. In Rotterdam alone last month Russia placed orders for 30,000,000 gulden worth of cotton and the accelerated Russian orders since May have completely altered the Dutch trade balance.

SPACE ANNIHILATED!

Sixty hours from London to India! The proposal of the British Government to build airships that shall accomplish the distance in that time with 200 passengers points a sharp contrast with the experience of Philadelphia missionaries who in the middle of the nineteenth century needed five months for the voyage in a sailing vessel. It seems to gather up the world as a scroll and old Anglo-Indians who endured the lifeless heat of the Red Sea will wag their reminiscent heads in the London clubs where they talk over the palm days of the Indian civil service and Colonial administration. As space is progressively annihilated, one more malady must soon be written down as obsolete—and that is nostalgia, an ailment that has robbed many a promising field of able and ambitious workmen. In time to come, when a missionary may fly back to "the home land" in a day or an American plumber will return from Calcutta to New York for the tools he forgot, the martyrdom of heroic isolation for "the advance guard of civilization" will be a good deal of a myth.

HELPED BY THE STATE OF MORALE

A million a week for the running year is a staggering deficit for any railway to incur, but the Canadian National has the satisfaction of knowing that the total is $6,000,000 less than it was the year before. That result is in large measure due to the effort of Sir Henry Thornton, graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, who formerly ran the Long Island Railroad and then did splendid service for the war-time railways of England and France. The spirit infused into the hard-working men who run the line so valuable to Canadian development is shown by the general agreement of the officers to forfeit one day's pay in thirty toward making up the deficit. Such an offer argues for the right state of morale beyond any series of facts and figures that could be presented in an annual report.

Never a banging door to hear,
Never a sudden shriek or fear,
Never an eye with a glimmering tear
Or a smudgy face to see;
Never a noise when you want to dream,
Never a shout and never a scream;
Such quiet as that might lovely seem,
But it wouldn't be home to me.

"Nervy," says mother, "a shirt to mend
Never a terrible fight to end;
And no one your pennies to want to spend,
What a restful spot 'twould be!
Never a hurt that a kiss will heal,
Never a battle for cart or wheel;
Oh, that might be nice, but I somehow feel
That it wouldn't be home to me!"

Never a shout from the city street
And the noisy patter of running feet,
And the cry: "Hey! what can we have to eat!"
And never a cookie spree;
Never the rattle that children make

The toll they cause and the things they break,
Just two old folks in the house!
Land's sake,
That wouldn't be home to me!

So think of this when they start their noise
And clamor for cookies and break their toys:
Wherever you find little girls and boys
They'll argue and disagree;
They'll keep you jumping the live-long day,
But still if you hadn't them there to play
And your house were still as a tomb—you'd say:
"Oh, it wouldn't be home to me."

Perpetual Motion Machine?
Connellsville, Pa., Aug. 2.—An engine which "consumes no gas and runs forever" will be offered for sale to the United States government by Charles Fox, who claims to have invented a perpetual motion machine after experimenting for years. "You just start her up and let her flicker," said Fox, who left for Washington with two business men to start negotiations for the sale of his apparatus, which he estimates is worth millions.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Maine.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a Godsend to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation." — Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 98 out of every 100 were benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Could Not Walk. Itched Badly. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema first broke out on the backs of my hands and ankles in little pimples that had water in them. Later the pimples would break open, swell up and turn red. ## Today's Talks

THE TURN OF THOUGHT

Most of us find it is largely through our ability to turn our thoughts from all which depresses and destroys that we are able to face life bravely and take up what comes without complaint.

How often we are caught unawares in the deepest depression—worrying over what has not happened and which rarely does.

We so much lack buoyancy. We pray for the sunshine when there are only clouds and rainfall. But when the clouds and rainfall are gone that prayed-for sunshine fails to clear our gloom.

The pleasurable soul depends upon the ability of its owner to rise above circumstances, and to will a path far from the irritating and inevitable.

It is actually he who you want to be instead of moaning over the fact that you are not what you want to be—and see what will happen.

No man ever reached a mountain top without first putting his eyes upon its summit.

There are those who seem to delight in dwelling upon the morbid tendencies of their nature instead of flooding them with an antidote that might clear them away forever.

Happiness in this world comes about largely through the ability to turn ones thoughts away from unpleasant, discouraging and impossible, and attempting to do the very limits all of which we seem capable.

And no man ever knows how capable he really is until he has tapped his resources to their depths.

Tennyson has left us an inspiring little couplet:

"Oh, well for him whose will is strong;
He suffers, but he will not suffer long."

No one ever became discouraged by looking up at the stars!

BUICK FEATURES ARE ALL TRED AND FUND PERFECT

Perhaps the most outstanding thing in connection with the progress of Buick is the fact that at no time has Buick incorporated in its cars any uncertain or untried features.

The excellent Buick product of today is the result of constant development of units that, after extensive research and experiment, left no question as to their practicability. The first thought considered with the adoption of any feature in connection with Buick cars is whether or not the feature will be practical in universal use, whether it will stand up and perform satisfactorily in the hands of every type of driver and under every driving condition.

All experiments and tests are made under conditions that will readily demonstrate whether the feature being considered will render satisfactory and uninterrupted service, not only under ordinary but also under extraordinary circumstances.

It is not Buick's idea to build a cheap car. While Buick cars are moderately priced, in no sense of the words can they be described as cheap, light, or small.

The best of materials are used in the manufacture of Buick cars, the most up-to-date machinery and manufacturing methods are employed, which makes it possible to build cars at a price that one not knowing Buick's policies and methods might be led to believe indicates a cheaply constructed car.

Only experience in driving a Buick car under conditions where other cars have failed to demonstrate the fact that while it is low-priced it is not cheaply constructed. From the standpoint of design and construction it is worth considerably more than its price.

Buick has a selfish motive in following out its policies so rigidly. For Buick well knows that it cannot hope to sell and resell Buick cars to motorists year after year unless they perform satisfactorily and render one hundred per cent service. Building a cheap product that could be offered at an extremely low price might bring business for a time but such a policy would surely develop a feeling of dissatisfaction and result in a gradual reduction of the number of Buicks built and sold.

The new Buick standard six and the Master Six will be on exhibition at the Greene County fair. We invite you to come to our headquarters and see the model cars.

BOOTH FOR RED CROSS AT FAIR

As an organization to help others, the Greene County Red Cross will have a first aid booth in the Arts Building at the Greene County Fair next week.

Health charts and charts showing the work of the Red Cross last year will be on display. The nurse wants to meet mothers of children inspected in the schools last year and the secretary will give information on the National Soldier's bonus and other Red Cross activities.

At 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day the nurses will give a demonstration on the care of the baby.

A hospital bed and supplies will be ready to care for first aid. Twenty-eight cases were cared for at the Red Cross booth last year.

TRIAL OF DRUGGIST DELAYED TWO WEEKS

Trial of Charles Ridgeway, Cedarville druggist, which was to have come up in Probate Court Friday, has been postponed for two weeks.

Ridgeway was charged with violation of the dry laws after he was arrested on evidence obtained at the coroner's inquest into the death of William Kuekendall, in an automobile accident on the Columbus Pike two weeks ago.

Ridgeway is said to have sold Jamaica ginger—was granted a continuance through his attorney when it was learned he is ill and is taking treatment in New York.

Statue of George Rogers Clark is ready

The statue in commemoration of George Rogers Clark, who led the band of pioneers against the Indians in the vicinity now called Clark County, which will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies August 8, near Springfield, was executed by workmen of the Dodds Granite Company, of this city, at the large Dodds manufacturing plant at Milford, Mass.

The general contract for the execution of Sculptor Charles Keck's design and model was let to the Dodds company and the statue cut from the famous Victoria White granite because of its fine quality, even texture and adaptability.

The memorial is in the form of a heroic statue of General Clark showing in low relief on his one side, a pioneer frontiersman and on the other an Indian squatting and smoking in characteristic fashion. The design and model were prepared by Sculptor Charles Keck, of New York City, who has had general supervision of the project.

Plans are in readiness for the unveiling of the statue August 8, the anniversary date of the capture of Piqua by Clark and his band from the Indians.

The outcome of this battle gave to the United States the entire Northwest territory. Because of the fact that this battle, in its resultant effect, was one of the most important fought during the seven years of the Revolutionary war, the exercises assume national importance.

The battle site will be marked by the statue about five miles west of the present location of Springfield, just south of the National Highway. President Calvin Coolidge has told the committee in charge of the arrangements in connection with the unveiling that he will be present at the ceremonies if other duties do not interfere. Governors and their staffs and other dignitaries from states embraced in the Northwest territory as well as Kentucky and Virginia will also be present. Officials and troops from the war department will participate together with the Ohio National Guard troops.

The monument, for which funds were appropriated by the state of Ohio, stands about twenty-five feet above the level of the surrounding country on the site it will be placed.

The giant figure of Clark, nine feet in height, is the principal figure shown in the monument. Inscriptions in Gothic lettering are placed on both the front and rear of the large base which supports the monument and the seal of the State of Ohio, is on the left side with the seal of the United States on the right.

Thurston Ballard of Louisville, Ky., a grandson of Gen. Clark's sister, with his twin brother, R. C. Ballard Thurston, will be among the honor guests at the unveiling.

W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, will deliver the main address at the ceremonies.

DURANT TUBULAR BACKBONE CAUSE OF MUCH COMMENT

This is the day and age of unusual things. Before the war people went along with a certain evenness that almost bordered on monotony. However, great developments have come into the building of automobiles. Many new inventions have tended to make automobiles ride easier, make bodies and chassis stronger, motors more powerful and more economical. In fact, the automobile of yesterday will not even make a favorable comparison with its newer and more beautiful successor.

Probably no modern invention, pertaining to the automobile, is so useful and caused so much comment as the tubular backbone, which is an exclusive Durant patent. Dealers show a Star car running on three wheels. Can you imagine taking off one of the wheels from your automobile, starting the motor and drive right on? Any automobile that Durant builds will do it. This could just as well have been a Durant car as a Star car. The idea is simply to convey to the public the extraordinary strength that is built into Star and Durant cars.

Mr. Johnson of the Star and Durant Agency invites every one to call at their headquarters and inspect the Durant products.

TWO PICTURES OF SLAYERS OF YOUTH HUNG BY EVIDENCE

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Dr. William A. White, alienist, testified at the hearing of the case of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks that Loeb planned the death of his companion, Leopold.

White said: "Loeb wanted to do away with Leopold because he felt that Leopold had no 'stomach' for criminalistic activities. Both boys had in mind possibility of killing the other member of the combination. In Leopold's mind the thought was not quite so strong. But in Loeb's mind the thought was much stronger and he interviewed another boy for the purpose of making him his partner in the event he found Leopold too dangerous to continue the partnership."

Witness further testified that Leopold and Loeb wanted to commit "the perfect crime" and that was their chief object in the murder of Robert Franks. White said he thought that Loeb did the actual slaying, in response to a question of State's Attorney Crowe as to whether he had any opinion of which of the boys struck the death blow.

Dr. White explained the mental characteristics of the young slayers at great length. He said Leopold believed earnestly in destruction from early childhood. "Murder, he told me once," Dr. White testified, "seemed a very small thing to him when weighed in the balance against his own pleasure. The only crime which he could commit was that of making an intellectual mistake."

Alienist's Story.

With the state's attorney fighting every step of the way, Dr. White went into a technical explanation of how alienists arrived at their conclusions through the medium of constant observation, questioning, noting the reactions and other forms. Environment has much to do with the actions of a person, and if the environment is not proper then the natural expectations of the patient may be aborted, the witness said.

"There are many desires that do not come true to reality," White said, "but are part of the inner life. We are interested in the 'inner life' of the patient, because we know that in this 'inner life' the patient has hopes, aspirations and desires which do not exist in reality, but which are none the less real."

"I found that Richard Loeb was not very well and was a weakling physically until he was 4 or 5 years old," Dr. White testified. "I got much of this information from Loeb himself. He told me of his goiter, a Miss Struthers, who was a very rigid disciplinarian."

The object of Leopold and Loeb in killing Robert Franks was to commit the "perfect crime," Dr. White stated. He added that Loeb told him that he and Leopold had discussed committing a murder long before Franks was killed and had considered various persons, including their parents. "The real object in the murder was to commit the 'perfect crime,'" Dr. White said. "The idea was for the master criminal to do a good job. It was to be thoroughly and completely planned and be the object of great concern in the immediate vicinity. There was to be no clue. An intellectual feat was to be accomplished."

THE WORST IS YET TO COME—

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

The entire economic greatness of North America has been built up by men who were willing to forego present comforts for the expectation of future gains.

In order to produce the capital necessary to finance industrial corporations, mines, or railways, some one must establish a surplus—fall to use as much as they produce. When a large number of people do this a great surplus is built up which may be used for new development. This development usually takes the form of producing things which will enable mankind to produce other things more easily, more swiftly, and more cheaply.

To build up an economic system of this sort a new country must either employ a period of niggardly hardships in order to get operations. The United States used both methods when it was a new country. Canada has been largely helped by British capital. Russia is trying its people accumulate the capital—even though it is practically an international bankrupt. Russia gives a good example of the suffering and horror which must be endured when a nation tries to build up its surplus through the individual efforts of its own people in an impoverished (industrially impoverished) country.

TENNIS CHAMP IS BACK HOME

New York, Aug. 2.—Back from a "wonderful trip and winner of the Olympic tennis championship, Miss Helen Wills, American tennis champion had only one regret today and that was that she did not get to engage Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, on the courts.

"I am proud and glad over the outcome of my contest," said Miss Wills. "I saw Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen play one set at Wimbledon. My only regret of the entire trip was that I was unable to arrange a match with her."

Court Solves Problem.
Cincinnati, Aug. 2.—Philip Plotkin and Aaron Einhorn, living next to each other on the same street, could not get along and decided to have Judge George Myrick act as arbiter. Now they can't look at each other for one month, Judge Myrick ruled.

Alleged Kidnaping Held.
Conneaut, O., Aug. 2.—Mrs. Marie Walker, 28, was arrested here with 7-year-old Claire Carlson, whom she is accused of kidnaping from the father, Carl A. Carlson, Sherburne, N. Y. She is being held for authorities whom she eluded at Erie, Pa., where she and the boy had lived for two weeks.

RESERVES SET FOR HAMILTON TEAM SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon the Xenia Reserve baseball team will hook up with the fast Hamilton Triangles at Washington Park in a game that promises to be close and hard fought all the way.

The Butler county nine just recently defeated the Hamilton Clarks by a 7 to 4 count. The Clarks, it will be remembered, handed the local nine a trouncing by a 4 to 2 score in a fast and interesting game about a month ago. According to the dope the Triangles are a much better and faster ball club than the Clarks. Such being the case the Chambliss aggregation will have to step plenty fast in order to come out on the long end of the score.

The Reserves have had two hard practice sessions this week and all members claim they are fit for a grueling contest. The locals advanced eighteen more points in hitting giving them an average of .277 while their fielding dropped one point being .902 at the present. This seems to be the whole fault of the club. If their fielding could be a bit cleaner they would win lots more games. Of the six games lost by them this season over half of this number have been dropped by erratic handling of the ball. Despite this one bad fault the Reserves claim they are going to hand the Triangles the same dose they gave the Dayton Silents last week.

The Hamilton team a newly organized club having been in the field for about a month or so. Nevertheless they are one of Hamilton's best ball teams, there being two others in Hamilton. They are the Clippers and Clarks. As was stated before they beat the Clarks but have not yet met the Clipper nine which by the way is a fast team and carving baseball history around Butler County and vicinity. They will lineup as follows: Hamilton—Sherlock, 1b; Pfanger, 2b; Hoffman, ss; Hage, 3b; R. Hoffman, lf; Zellner, cf; and Messner, rf. Turner will catch while Gardner or J. Sherlock will hurl.

The Reserves will lineup as follows: McDonnell or Cyphers will be on the firing line while Cain will be at initial sack. Schwab will take care of second, Leahey at short and Cox at third. P. Fuller, D. Fuller and Cooper will be in the gardens.

MERCHANTS TO BE BUSY WITH EATON OUTFIT

When the Xenia Merchants hook up with the Seltz and Frey base ball team, of Eaton Sunday afternoon at Dickerson Park, local fans may rest assured they will witness one of the best semi-pro teams of local baseball circles in action.

The Eaton team it will be remembered has already shown its wares in Xenia this season as the opponents of the fast Xenia Reserves, which team it took into camp by a close score.

The Merchants however, with such players as Long at third base and Carr at second, formerly of the C. M. I. club, expect to let the visitors down on the short end of the count Sunday.

With the two hurlers, Asa Jones and Carl Lewis, in good shape, they expect to annex another victory to add to their already long winning streak.

The Seltz and Frey Club has been having good success on the diamond this season, only losing a few games by close scores.

Manager Bresenben, of Eaton, will probably line up his team as follows: Swisher pitching and Hanin receiving; Barnes 1b; Wan 2b; Potts ss; Moon, Walton and McKee will be seen in the gardens; Drury Reid and Foot are utility men.

The management has gone to some expense in bringing this club to Xenia in order to show the fans that only first class clubs are being booked.

The game will begin promptly at 2:45 p. m. with Umpire Lindsey in charge. Lewis will probably pitch for the Merchants as the management wishes to hold Jones, who pitched such a fine game last Sunday, in reserve for the game next Sunday with the Steele Products team.

Boy's Alleged Confession.
Marysville, O., Aug. 2.—Leonard Little, 14, employed on a farm in Union township, this county, is said to have confessed to Marshal Miller that he set fire to the home of French Stilling after the theft of a watch.

$9 in cash and a necklace. The lad was returned to the Logan county probate court, where he is a ward. The Stilling home was slightly damaged by the fire.

XENIA BOYS WIN HONORS AT CAMP KNOX; NOW HOME

Greene County boys attending the Citizens Military Training Camp of Camp Knox, Ky., which disbanded July 29, made good showings in the competitive branches of camp sports, both individually and as members of medal winning companies.

Privates Bernard F. Neville, Emmett Rachford, John Donovan and Corporal John Olcott, of Xenia, were members of the company that won the American Legion Cup for the best drilled company in the entire camp. Company F, 1st Regiment. There were three regiments in the camp with eight companies to the regiment, a total of twenty-four companies.

The cup was awarded on the elimination plan, each company drilling before a superior officer against another company, the two finalists, "drilling it out" for honors.

Honorable mention was given John North and Arthur Hyman, of Xenia. Out of about 115 privates, North of Company A, 1st Regiment, was one of the three competitors for the honor of being the best "Basic Red" man in his company. The Basic Red honor is awarded to the best all-around soldier in every company.

Arthur Hyman, of pugilistic fame, after winning the 125 pound boxing championship of the camp, was defeated in the elimination tournament to decide the camp championship.

The thirty-three Greene County boys who enjoyed the month of camp life returned to this city Thursday.

TAR APPLIED TO JAMESTOWN PIKE

A heavy coat of tar has been laid on the Jamestown Pike east of Xenia according to Delver Belden, secretary of the Greene County Auto Club.

The tarring was completed Thursday and the pike will be unfit for travel for three or four days declared Mr. Belden, who advises all motorists to detour over other roads for a short time.

Immediately after the tarring has been finished gravel will be also laid. As far as can be ascertained, the pike is being tarred clear through to Jamestown from the city limits of Xenia.

Indorse Davis' Candidacy

Columbus, Aug. 1.—Republican executive committees of Ashland and Athens counties have endorsed the candidacy of former Governor Davis for nomination for governor, according to announcement by Davis headquarters here. The endorsements were pointed to by Davis headquarters as an answer to the argument that the former governor will not be a strong candidate in rural counties.

Another Clash With Klan

Beverly, Mass., Aug. 1.—Twenty persons were injured in another clash between citizens and members of the Ku Klux Klan to this city. It was the third Klan riot in Massachusetts in a week. The fighting started when 3000 klansmen, who had been holding a meeting in a field near Groveland, clashed with a party of young men who had been watching the spectacle. The injured included members of both factions.

Boxers to Meet

Canton, O., Aug. 2.—Jimmie Jones, Youngstown welterweight, signed to meet Harvey Thorpe here in a 12-round bout next Monday evening.

Health Hints

by the Father of Physical Culture

BECKNER MACFADDEN

The theory of the cause and nature of diabetes has for years shifted as have the sands of the sea, and the theories are still fluctuating somewhat from the one to another. The one and now of the day, it has been regarded as a disease of the pancreas, of the muscles of the nervous system, of the kidneys. It has been considered as a metabolic and nutritional disturbance, and as a form of auto-intoxication and acidosis.

But the real trouble is that the system has been so overburdened with an excess of all classes of foods, and particularly of meats, that it cannot properly assimilate any class of food. It is just this condition of the overtaxed system that makes it so eager for, and so responsive to a dietetic and health regimen which allows the toxins to be expelled, reduced and neutralized. And we have demonstrated over and over again that the fast, fruit diet, and the milk diet, together with an abundance of exercise, will correct many of these cases. We have also found that most of these cases will require as great care in the taking of meat as of many other specially restricted articles of food.

The most characteristic symptom of diabetes is the discharge of sugar in the urine together with a large amount of uric acid. The amount excreted daily may run into gallons and usually there is an intense thirst. There is usually sugar in the blood also, that is, in larger amounts than normal. The appetite very frequently becomes as intense as the thirst. The skin becomes dry and harsh, and there is frequently inability to sleep. Boils are frequently developed on the skin and an injury may easily result in a gangrene of the part.

Usually a cure can be brought about only by drastic constitutional measures, and even these measures will many times be able to only check the progress, or to lessen the severity of the disease and its symptoms, without bringing about a cure.

Mr. H. M. Straus of Ohio was one of the fortunate ones in bringing about a cure from this grave constitutional disease.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED.

DOROTHY LANE goes to New York to visit a friend and try to break into the movies. She soon gets started, and through the friendship of LAWRENCE FRENCH, a young publicity man, gets an engagement with JOHN SEWARD, "the great lover of the screen," who falls in love with her and asks her to marry him. However, she cares more for French, but is not sure that he cares for her. She has an unfortunate experience with EIKHORN, one of the big producers, and decides to go back home and give up her career, when French gets her a part in a picture being made in the country by CARL BANNING. French follows her to the country and proposes to her. Banning persuades them not to be married at once, and French goes back to New York. The star of the production, CRYSTAL MAY, does all that she can to make things unpleasant for Dorothy.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT.

XLVI—DEATH—OR SUCCESS.

"I DON'T want to do it," Crystal protested, fairly shivering with fright. "I didn't know it was going to be this way when you told me the story."

Why, I'd be risking my life!"

"Not at all," answered Mr. Banning, calm as a May morning. "You can see that there's a real stretch and where you can't help landing in it, there's really no danger at all. All you have to do is to wade into the water here at the top, over at one side, we can cut to show the falls, so that it will look as if you were near the edge. Then you jump, land in the net—and that's all there is to it. Perfectly simple. Come on, Crystal."

But Crystal didn't want to come on. She was terribly frightened. I didn't blame her, either. If she did it just right, everything would go well, but if she stumbled, or the net didn't hold, or anything else happened just a bit wrong, she'd go over Taughannock Falls, just as sure as shooting.

"I can't do it," she whimpered, clinging to her mother. "I'm afraid—I don't want to."

"But it's in the story—it's the big scene, you'll be perfectly safe," her mother urged. "Come on, Baby. Now, a real actress wouldn't act that way. And just think of the people who do things like this all the time. Think of Pearl White and Ruth Roland and all those girls. Come on, Baby!"

Tomorrow—My Big Scene.

to do this, or shall I have Dorothy do it? I can change the story so that she takes the leap—but if I do you're going to lose the biggest scene in the picture. How about it?"

Crystal dropped her hands and just stared at me. Her mother glanced in my direction, and exclaimed: "Oh, Baby, please do it!"

"But Crystal, you must look at the falls, and then sink down on the rock again shuddering."

"I can't," she sobbed. "I'm afraid!"

"All right, Dorothy, come on!" exclaimed Banning, turning on his heel, and beckoning to me.

In reality, I was just as much afraid of that leap as Crystal was, but of course, I wouldn't have shown it for worlds.

My knees trembled so that I could hardly walk as I followed Carl Banning over to the edge of the falls and listened while he explained what I was to do. Of course, it seemed queer for him to change the story so that my part was made so much more important, but it would really mean just cutting a few scenes and taking some new ones that we hadn't planned on, as we had just been working on the picture a little while.

I was grateful for the chance to do this big scene, of course; I reflected, though, as I stepped into the water over at the edge of the river, that I wouldn't have to pretend to look frightened, that would be perfectly simple! I was so scared that my throat was dry and my hands shook uncontrollably. But I just set my jaw and went on.

My knees trembled so that a could hardly walk.

GOOD FARMERS

Buy good plows, good fencing, good harness, good hogs, good cows, good seed corn, good EVERYTHING because it pays. But what do you do when it comes to mineral mixture for hogs. Do you use just any old mixture? Or do you make sure you feed one that gets RESULTS THAT COUNT?

There is no place where quality counts for quite so much as in a mineral mixture for hogs. The difference in the feeding value of spoiled corn and the best corn you have ever raised does not illustrate the difference between the cheap mineral mixtures and the best. There is no illustration we can think of which properly shows you the difference.

LABOR MOVING FOR SUPPORT OF LA FOLLETTE

Will Swing Behind Gompers In Endorsing Wisconsin Man.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 2.—With virtually all obstacles swept aside, the executive council of the American Federation of Labor meeting here behind closed doors was swinging through final steps today to unite organization of labor's support behind the presidential candidacy of Robert M. La Follette.

The early sessions of the council having clearly indicated that Samuel Gompers, ill and aged president of the federation still holds complete control over the organization, their leaders are freely predicting the council will, at the most, only a mild show of opposition, would accede to its chief's wishes to bring the federation's three million members into line for La Follette and Wheeler.

Gompers pointed out that endorsement of the Wisconsin leader would not definitely tie up the organization with the new party but would apply only to La Follette and Wheeler, leaving the federation free to support candidates of other parties for other offices.

Atlantic City, Aug. 2.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has taken its first official step toward endorsing Senator Robert La Follette's presidential candidacy.

The special political committee presented a report recommending that the governing council advise workers of the nation to cast their ballots for the independent candidates and against the two major parties. This committee is headed by Samuel Gompers.

Consideration of the report was the first business before the council of 11 labor chieftains who assembled here to advise its 3,000,000 voting members as to which political candidates they consider will best serve the desires of labor, if they are elected.

Members of the council, while they stand behind Gompers' declaration that the federation would maintain its traditional nonpartisanship in the 1924 campaign, declared they could properly endorse La Follette and Wheeler, as long as the endorsement was confined to candidates and refrained from pledging fealty to any national political party. It was disclosed that the report of the political committee on major party platform and presidential and vice presidential candidates would be the only report submitted to the council.

Matthew Woll of the Photo Engravers' union and vice president of the executive council, drafted the report of the political committee. Besides making such an analysis of party platforms and candidates as the labor federation has made in other presidential years, the report contains specific reference to the response of the national parties to the federation's demand, framed at the last session of the council in Montreal, that the Republican and Democratic parties give greater consideration to labor in drawing the planks for their respective platforms.

POLICE VIGILANT AFTER KLAN WAR

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 2.—Reports that an attempt would be made to deliver from the hands of the police the two men arrested at last night's Ku Klux Klan gathering at Shrewsbury when they were brought for arraignment in Worcester court today prompted police to be more extraordinarily vigilant. At the Shrewsbury meeting, Captain George A. Parker, of the state police, and about two score of his troops were present.

Automobiles approaching the meeting place were stopped. If the occupants could not give a good explanation of their presence, they were searched for arms.

Revolvers, clubs and other implements of offense or defense were seized.

Thomas Sorensen, who said he was from South Lancaster, was arrested carrying two blades. The other man arrested, Albert Olsen of Worcester was carrying a piece of rubber hose, three feet long and filled with lead filings.

Arthur and Benjamin Dorschelmer, wealthy business men, are held without bail in Gap, Pa., charged by another brother, Frank E. Dorschelmer, with the murder of their parents ten years ago. The elder Dorschelmers were found dead in their gas-filled home in Lancaster, Pa., and the deaths were ascribed to accident. Frank E. Dorschelmer now alleges his brothers confessed they turned on the gas. They indignantly deny the charges, declaring their brother was inspired by "spirits." Their sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Pennypacker, of Philadelphia, is to be a witness.

TWO PICTURES OF SLAYERS OF YOUTH ARE PAINTED BY ATTORNEYS IN COURT ROOM

Alienists of Defense Display Leopold and Loeb as Two Small Boys—Crowe Answers in Scornful Sarcasm.

Criminal Court, Chicago, Aug. 2.—Both Nathan F. Leopold Jr., and Richard A. Loeb were "intellectually capable" of choosing between right and wrong on the day they kidnaped little Bobby Franks, bashed his head with a cold chisel and hid his body in an isolated culvert but "morally they had no feeling attitude about it." This conclusion was drawn from Dr. William A. White one of the alienists retained by the boys' wealthy families today, on cross examination by State's Attorney Crowe.

That was as far as Crowe could get in pinning "legal responsibility" on the two young slayers through their own alienist.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Two pictures of Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard A. Loeb, the gay young collegians, who kidnaped and killed little Bobby Franks, "just for a thrill," were hung today in Judge John R. Caverly's crowded courtroom, where they face the noose or a lifetime in prison for their crime.

One of them was painted by medical science. It displays "Dicky" and "Babe" as two small boys, emotionally about five years of age, still living in a world of phantasy, a dream world peopled by cowboys, detectives, jam and Shetland ponies. This was hung in the courtroom by the lawyers and alienists, who are seeking to save their necks from the noose.

The other picture was painted by the state of Illinois. It represents the slayers as grown up men, intellectual, sophisticated, educated, wealthy and sane, and responsible under the law for what the agents of the state describe as the most diabolical, cold blooded murder in the history of American criminality.

The choice between these two paintings lies with Judge John R. Caverly.

"They are not murderers," said State's Attorney Robert Crowe, with fine scorn, in his voice. "They are little boys caught in the patty stealing jam. That is not blood on their hands, it is jam."

"They are just two little boys who still believe in Santa Claus." And the state's attorney puts a final dab of paint on the picture.

"Bunk," he says.

GASOLINE TRAINS TO REPLACE STEAM

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Gasoline motor trains will replace the steam-drawn cars of trains Nos. 2 and 3 between Indianapolis and St. Louis, Big Four officials announced. Trains Nos. 7 and 8, between Mattoon and St. Louis, also will be replaced with the new equipment. Each train will consist of a motor and trailer. The decision is a result of two years' of tests by the Illinois Central and another western road. Big Four officials say the new equipment will mean a large saving and can better meet competition with interurban lines.

Business Improving.
Cleveland, Aug. 2.—The Fourth Federal Reserve bank in its monthly business review says there has been a distinctly better feeling in the business situation during the last two weeks. In the fourth district operations in the iron and steel industry are beginning to increase. A betterment of demand for automobiles during early July is reported by several companies. Crop conditions are on the whole only fair, the oats and hay crop giving good promise, while the present outlook for wheat and corn crops is generally unsatisfactory. The boot and shoe and textile industries are quiet, awaiting the coming of fall for an increase in activity.

REPARATIONS AGREEMENT IS NOW REACHED

Settlement Made On All Points—Big Seven Now in Conference

London, Aug. 2.—After a plenary session of two and one half hours by the allied reparations commission, Colonel J. A. Logan, official American observer, announced this afternoon that an agreement had been reached upon all points.

The "big seven"—heads of the delegations, the latter went into conference to decide the terms of the invitation to Germany.

The plenary session adopted the reports of the first and third committees, but the question of the future status of the Ruhr railways was left to the "big seven" for adjustment.

It was decided that there should be the right of appeal from the transfer transfer Germany's reparations payment committee, the committee which will be sent to the allied governments.

A committee of jurists was appointed to draft regulations for appealing from the committee.

It is expected that the invitation to the Germans will be sent to Berlin this evening.

London, Aug. 2.—The inter-allied conference reached agreement in committee on the subject of possible modification of the experts' plan.

Committee No. 3, however, struck a snag when it came to the question of arranging for cash deliveries instead of deliveries in kind in case the latter became too heavy for France. If the deadlock on this question of cash deliveries, one of the new points raised by the French delegation, is maintained, the matter will be referred to the chief delegates.

The first committee of the conference approved a proposal that successive tribunals must declare Germany has willfully defaulted before France or anyone else takes separate action. It is believed this will prevent a repetition of the Ruhr affair.

No one believes that under the present circumstances France would exercise her prerogative for separate action should the impartial tribunals disapprove.

The chairman of the conference today extended an invitation to the Germans to come to London as soon as possible. The mission from Berlin, however, is not expected to arrive before Tuesday, for it is anticipated that Dr. Stresemann, the German foreign minister, will delay its departure until he has had an opportunity to talk with Charles E. Hughes, the American secretary of state, who is to visit the German capital.

THEATER SEASON TO OPEN SEPTEMBER 23 WITH GOOD BOOKING

"The Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come," stage adaptation of a favorite novel, will open the Xenia legitimate theatrical season at the City Hall Theater September 9, it is announced by J. D. Adair, of the Standard Amusement Company, which has the house under contract.

The management has been assured the production is by a first class company. "Able's Irish Rose," which has probably created more favorable comment all over the country than any other contemporary stage offering, has been booked for three nights, October 23, 24 and 25.

The production last season ran many weeks in Dayton, Columbus, Cincinnati and other cities where a week's stand is usually the limit for any production and has been voted by the public one of the most popular offerings of recent times.

The enormously staged motion picture, "The Ten Commandments," will arrive in Xenia shortly after its first release from New York, September 23, when it will be shown with elaborate "props" at the City Hall Theater. The production by Cecil de Mille is said to rival "The Covered Wagon" in interest and is said to have done $4,000 a week more business in New York than its predecessor. The picture will be produced here with its own orchestra.

According to witnesses the motorist of the express train applied his brakes but was unable to stop the car in time to avoid the crash.

Upwards of fifty passengers in the rear car of the Moreland train saved themselves from injury by jumping when some one sounded a warning of the approaching express.

Smith and Wade Return to Kirkwall When Sudden Fog Springs Up—Third Pilot, Unknowingly Sticks To Flight Route.

On Board United States Cruiser Richmond, Houten Bay, off Scotland, Aug. 2.—(By Radio) The American destroyer Billingsly reported by wireless this afternoon that Lieutenant Erik Nelson, United States army round the world aviator, who became separated from his companions, in a fog today, enroute from the Orkneys to Iceland, flew over the American destroyer Reid at 2:45 o'clock this afternoon. It was estimated that he was about 130 miles from the Iceland coast.

The foregoing dispatch was received in London from the Richmond at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The Faroe Islands are 225 miles from Kirkwall, or almost half-way to Iceland.

Lieutenant Lowell Smith, the flight commander and Lieutenant Leigh Wade lost Lieutenant Erik Nelson in a fog bank, twenty-five miles off the Orkneys and returned to Houten bay. They did not know if Nelson continued his journey or tried to turn back to the starting point.

Weather conditions were favorable early in the day but Smith was delayed for nearly an hour, getting his plane to rise from the water and when

After waiting forty-five minutes for Nelson's return, Lieutenant Smith expressed belief that Nelson was proceeding to Iceland alone.

Residents of Kirkwall were surprised when at 11:16 o'clock, an American airplane was seen flying low over the town.

Two minutes later a second plane appeared which was identified as that of Lieutenant Smith. A weighted bag was dropped from the second machine. While the crowd rushed to the back yards searching for the bag, a second one was dropped, which showed the feet of Major Davidson, aerial attaché to the U. S. embassy in London.

Major Davidson was standing upon the quay at the time. The bag was hastily opened and was found to contain a note saying that Lieutenant Erik Nelson had become separated from his companions in the fog and was missing.

Immediately after the return of Smith and Wade, the Richmond sent wireless messages to the destroyers Billingsly and Reid and the cruiser Raleigh that Nelson was missing and was believed to be enroute to Iceland alone. The vessels were asked to keep a keen watch for the aviator.

It was regarded as possible that Nelson might land in the Faroe Islands. The Billingsly is stationed off the Faroes, while the Reid is half way between the Orkneys and Iceland.

LAND OF SUNSHINE LOSES ITS APPEAL

Pleasure trips to California are not looked upon as the end of the rainbow by vacationists seeking to find a place to spend their leisure hours and days this summer, it is said.

During the month of July, only two or three tickets were sold to people going to California from Xenia as compared with a sale of thirty during July of the previous year, according to Pennsylvania Railroad officials.

Straitened financial conditions all over the nation during the last year is offered as a reason for the decrease in sale.

People realizing that the country is not so prosperous as in former years are conservative with their money, and are not as quick to squander it on long pleasure trips, it is said.

VALUE OF SULPHUR LICK REDUCED TO TEMPT PURCHASER

The appraised value of Sulphur Lick Springs, at Chillicothe, which originally was placed at $30,500, has been lowered to $18,500 in a new appraisal made this week.

MODISH MITZI—He Couldn't Tell Them By Their Hats

By Jay V. Jay

It's a hot day and the Goofy is looking for company—anyone who will let him express himself about the weather. This must be something new, he thinks, admiring Mitzi's large midsummer hat of leghorn straw with a frill of buttons around the edge of the brim.

Another good looking hat. (It belongs to Polly.) Almost anyone might be hidden under it. Shall he walk around and peer under the brim? It's not the sort of thing the Goofy goes in for. However it is a stunning hat—of rose colored horsehair trimmed with sprawling flat French flowers of metallic ribbon.

And why should this hat (which is Eleanor's) have a brim that completely hides the face? And is it the face of a friend or of a strange young woman who would say "Sit!" to him? The hat, really charming, is of milian with a ruffle of rose colored taffeta and taffeta flowers ap-

The Goofy has solved it. He stood in the most conspicuous place possible, the middle of the terrace, and removed his hat. Then he waited. All three of the hats have come out to rescue him from sunstroke. Of course his reputation as a firmly established by this incident.

TEN YEARS AGO

Ten years ago the Austrian Empire, ruled by the Hapsburgs, declared war on Serbia. Behind Austria stood Germany ready for the work of death. Within ten days a four-year hell was let loose on earth.

It was followed by a six-year purgatory that still endures. The House of Hapsburg has gone. So have the House of Hohenzollern and the Glucksburgs of Greece. The Romanoffs have passed to explore the shadows of obscure graves and the dust of a dead empire. Europe's map has changed. New little states struggled for life in the war wreckage that covers more than 10,000,000 fighting men's graves. In part Europe is a world of phantom cities, ghostly villages and the wraiths of men and life of yesterday.

The eruption that shook the world has ended; but the crust forming over the lava beds of hate and fear is very thin, and the fires underneath cool slowly. The stability of that remade world is uncertain.

But at the end of ten years it is plain that lasting peace can be assured only by the removal of the real obstacles to peace. The injustice done France and Belgium by their war comrades and by the unrepentant German is such an obstacle. The failure to give France the security she must have against another avalanche of steel from the north is another. Six years of conferences have not availed, nor will sixty years of talk without action change a situation that is vital with human feelings and with human history.

GERMANY EATS DUST UNDER AGREEMENT RESTORING COMMERCIAL RELATIONS

Germany has eaten dust as a result of the diplomatic conflict with Russia over the Bozenhard incident in May.

In a protocol signed in Moscow by Foreign Minister Tchitcherine and Ambassador Brockdorf-Rantzau and in Berlin by Foreign Minister Stresemann and the Soviet Charge d' Affaires, Germany admits the police action in invading the Russian Trade Commission headquarters, in pursuit of the fugitive German Communist agitator, was illegal and regrettable, the official chiefly responsible for the action and agree that the other officials involved shall be punished.

Germany says the incident arose from the unauthorized action of the police, who had insufficient reasons for their search, and further declares herself prepared to render reparations for material damages.

The Russian Government merely repeats its promise not to interfere in the internal politics of Germany, declaring it will prohibit all Russian officials engaged in any governmental agency from participating in German political life, but will not extend such prohibition to Germans engaged on the Russian staff.

However, although Russo-German trade is not so immense as to be a decisive factor in normal times, its loss has been felt by Germany since the incident caused a break in trade relations. Russia has waged an effective trade war, with Scandinavian and Dutch ports as bases. In Rotterdam alone last month Russia placed orders for 30,000,000 gulden worth of cotton and the accelerated Russian orders since May have completely altered the Dutch trade balance.

SPACE ANNIHILATED!

Sixty hours from London to India! The proposal of the British Government to build airships that shall accomplish the distance in that time with 200 passengers points a sharp contrast with the experience of Philadelphia missionaries who in the middle of the nineteenth century needed five months for the voyage in a sailing vessel. It seems to gather up the world as a scroll and old Anglo-Indians who endured the lifeless heat of the Red Sea will wag their reminiscent heads in the London clubs where they talk over the palm days of the Indian civil service and Colonial administration. As space is progressively annihilated, one more malady must soon be written down as obsolete—and that is nostalgia, an ailment that has robbed many a promising field of able and ambitious workmen. In time to come, when a missionary may fly back to "the home land" in a day or an American plumber will return from Calcutta to New York for the tools he forgot, the martyrdom of heroic isolation for the advance guard of civilization will be a good deal of a myth.

HELPED BY THE STATE OF MORALE

A million a week for the running year is a staggering deficit for any railway to incur, but the Canadian National has the satisfaction of knowing that the total is $6,000,000 less than it was the year before. That result is in large measure due to the effort of Sir Henry Thornton, graduate of the University of Pennsylvania, who formerly ran the Long Island Railroad and then did splendid service for the war-time railways of England and France. The spirit infused into the hard-working men who run the line so valuable to Canadian development is shown by the general agreement of the officers to forfeit one day's pay in thirty toward making up the deficit. Such an offer argues for the right state of morale beyond any serried array of facts and figures that could be presented in an annual report.

JUST FOLKS

Edgar A. Guest

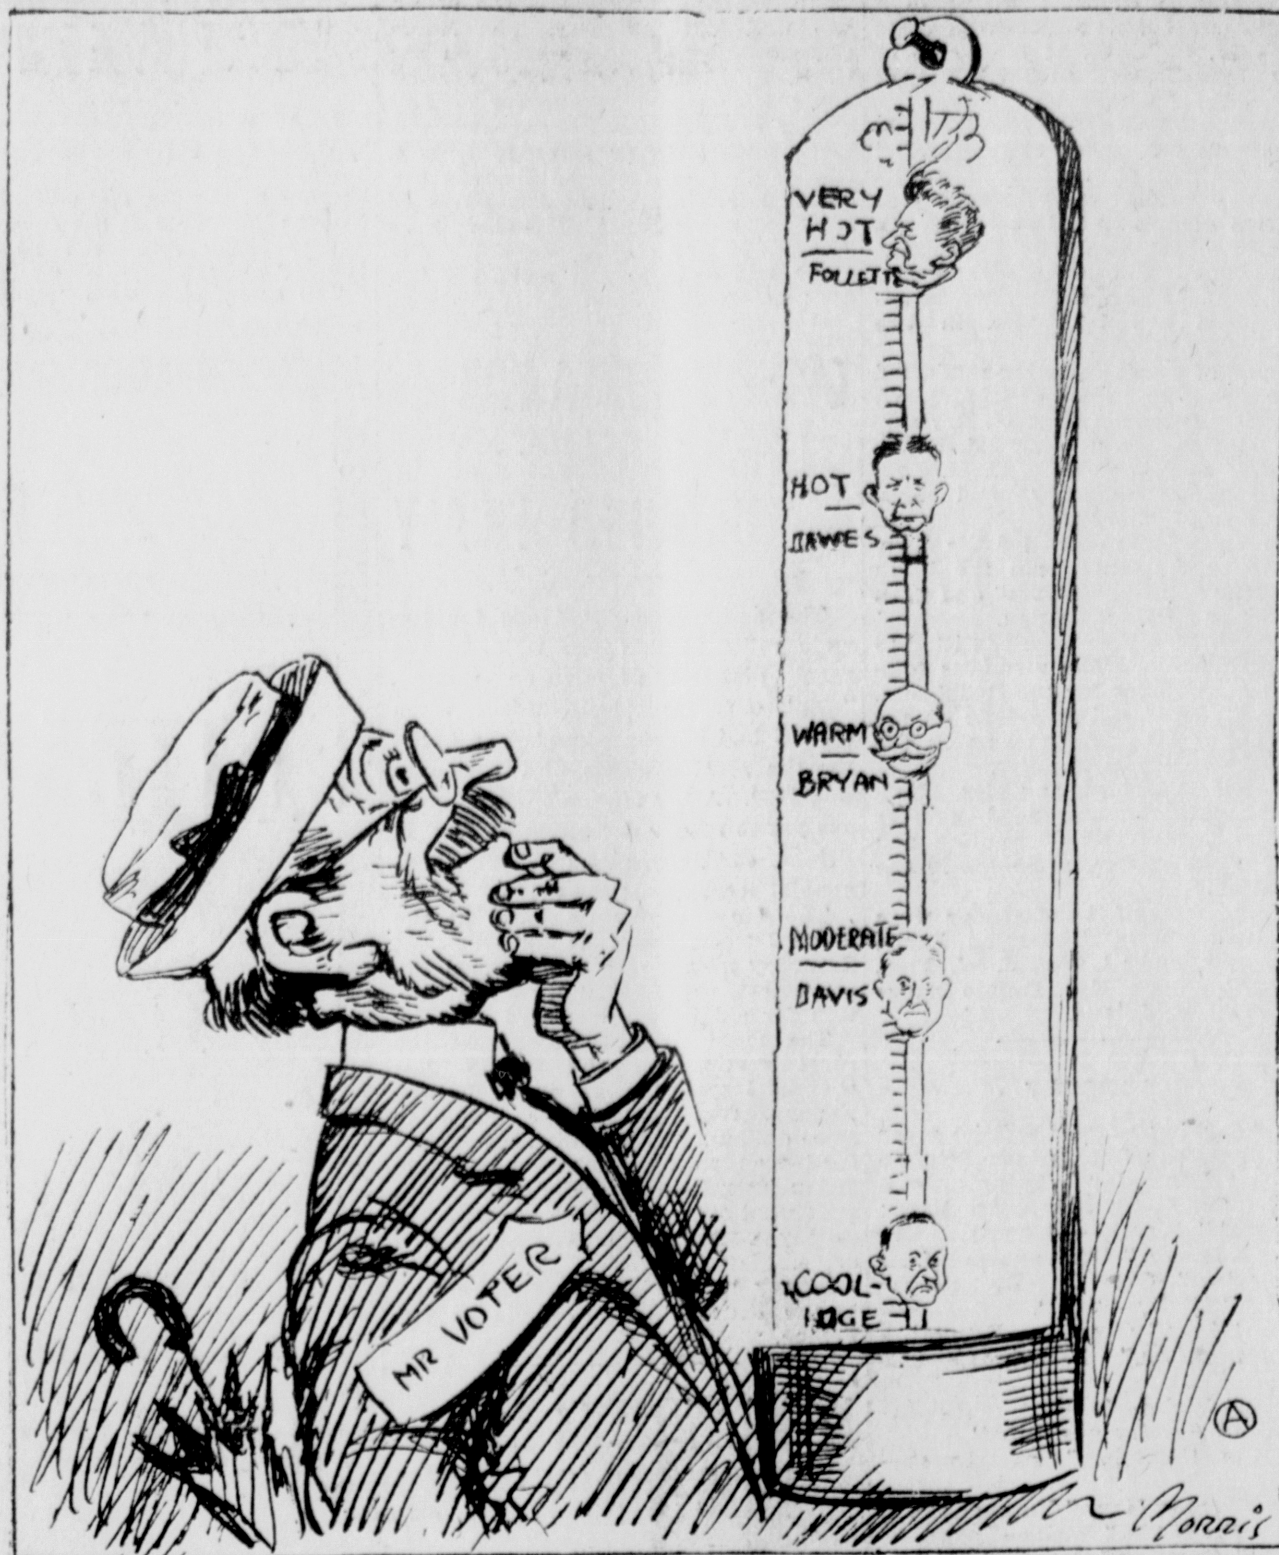

THE QUIET PLACE
Never a banging door to hear,
Never a sudden shriek or fear,
Never an eye with a glittering tear
Or a smug face to see;
Never a noise when you want to dream,
Never a shout and never a scream!
Such quiet as that might lovely seem,
But it wouldn't be home to me.
"Never," says mother, "a shirt to mend
Never a terrible fight to end;
And no one your pennies to want to spend,
What a restful spot 'twould be!
Never a hurt that a kiss will heal;
Never a battle for cart or wheel;
Oh, that might be nice, but I somehow feel
That it wouldn't be home to me!"
Never a shout from the city street,
And the noisy patter of running feet,
And the cry: "Hey! what can we have to eat?"
And never a cookie spree;
Never the racket that children make

The toll they cause and the things they break,
Just two old folks in the house!
Land's sake,
That wouldn't be home to me!

So think of this when they start their noise
And clamor for cookies and break their toys:
Wherever you find little girls and boys
They'll argue and disagree:
They'll keep you jumping the live-long day,
But still if you hadn't them there to play
And your house were still as a tomb—you'd say:
"Oh, it wouldn't be home to me."

Perpetual Motion Machine?
Connellsville, Pa., Aug. 2.—An engine which "consumes no gas and runs forever" will be offered for sale to the United States government by Charles Fox, who claims to have invented a perpetual motion machine after experimenting for years. "You just start her up and let her flicker," said Fox, who left for Washington with two business men to start negotiations for the sale of his apparatus, which he estimates is worth millions.

HERE AND THERE

William Powell Tuckett, 24, said to be the son of Dr. William Tuckett, head of Bellevue hospital, New York, and a woman identified as Mrs. George Pell, died from injuries received when their automobile was wrecked near Denver, Col.

John F. Parker, president of the Parker Corn exchange, was found dead in the bathtub at his home at Kansas City. The coroner's report said Parker committed suicide.

William Mason, 50, was gored to death by a bull at Laconia, N. H.

Louis Johnson, 21, for 14 years an inmate of the Michigan home and training school for the feeble-minded, is in prison at Pontiac, Mich., as the confessed murderer of Mrs. Blanche E. Burke, 29, who was strangled to death near that institution.

Net gain to the farmers from the recent wheat price increases will be nearer $100,000,000 or $200,000,000 than the $1,000,000,000 which has been estimated in some quarters, the federal department of agriculture announced.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Mrs. Shaw Calls Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a God-Send to Sick Women

Cambridge, Maine.—"I suffered terribly with pains and soreness in my sides. Each month I had to go to bed, and the doctor told me I simply had to go under an operation before I could get help. I saw your advertisement in the paper, and I told my husband one day to get me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Before I took the third dose I felt better. I took it four times a day for two years, getting better all the time, and now for four years I don't have any pains. After taking the medicine for two years I had another child—a lovely baby girl now four years old—the life of our home. I do praise this medicine. It is a God-send to women who suffer with female troubles and especially for pains at the periods. I surely was very bad once, and I know that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation."—Mrs. JOSIE M. SHAW, Route No. 1, Cambridge, Maine.

A country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound reports 95 out of every 100 were benefited by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

ECZEMA ON FEET AND HANDS

Could Not Walk. Itched Badly. Cuticura Heals.

"Eczema first broke out on the backs of my hands and ankles in little pimples that had water in them. Later the pimples would break open, swell up and turn red. My feet were so sore that I could not walk, and I had to keep them up in a chair. It itched badly, and the trouble lasted about three months.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and they helped me, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and three boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Miss Anna Springer, R. F. D. 1, Mendota, Mo., May 7, 1924.

THE TURN OF THOUGHT

Most of us find it is largely through our ability to turn our thoughts from all which depresses and destroys that we are able to face life bravely and take up what comes without complaint.

How often we are caught unawares in the deepest depression—worrying over what has not happened and which rarely does.

We so much lack buoyancy. We pray for the sunshine when there are only clouds and rainfall. But when the clouds and rainfall are gone that prayed-for sunshine fails to clear our gloom.

The pleasurable soul depends upon the ability of its owner to rise above circumstances, and to will a path far from the irritating and inevitable.

To actually be what you want to be instead of moaning over the fact that you are not what you want to be—and see what will happen.

No man ever reached a mountain top without first putting his eyes upon its summit.

There are those who seem to delight in dwelling upon the morbid tendencies of their nature instead of flooding them with an antidote that might clear them away forever.

Happiness in this world comes about largely through the ability to turn one's thoughts away from unpleasant, discouraging and impossible, and attempting to do the very limits all of which we seem capable.

And no man ever knows how capable he really is until he has tapped his resources to their depths.

Tennyson has left us an inspiring little couplet:

"Oh, well for him whose will is strong:
He suffers, but he will not suffer long."

No one ever became discouraged by looking up at the stars!

BUICK FEATURES ARE ALL TRED AND FUND PERFECT

Perhaps the most outstanding thing in connection with the progress of Buick is the fact that at no time has Buick incorporated in its cars any uncertain or untried features.

The excellent Buick product of today is the result of constant development of units that, after extensive research and experiment, left no question as to their practicability. The first thought considered with the adoption of any feature in connection with Buick cars is whether or not the feature will be practical in universal use, whether it will stand up and perform satisfactorily in the hands of every type of driver and under every driving condition.

All experiments and tests are made under conditions that will readily demonstrate whether the feature being considered will render satisfactory and uninterrupted service, not only under ordinary but also under extraordinary circumstances.

It is not Buick's idea to build a cheap car. While Buick cars are moderately priced, in no sense of the words can they be described as cheap, light, or small.

The best of materials are used in the manufacture of Buick cars, the most up-to-date machinery and manufacturing methods are employed, which makes it possible to build cars at a price that one not knowing Buick's policies and methods might be led to believe indicates a cheaply constructed car.

Only experience in driving a Buick car under conditions where other cars have failed will demonstrate the fact that while it is low-priced it is not cheaply constructed. From the standpoint of design and construction it is worth considerably more than its price.

Buick has a selfish motive in following out its policies so rigidly. For Buick well knows that it cannot hope to sell and resell Buick cars to motorists year after year unless they perform satisfactorily and render one hundred per cent service. Building a cheap product that could be offered at an extremely low price might bring business for a time but such a policy would surely develop a feeling of dissatisfaction and result in a gradual reduction of the number of Buicks built and sold.

The new Buick standard six and the Master Six will be on exhibition at the Greene County fair. We invite you to come to our headquarters and see the model cars.

BOOTH FOR RED CROSS AT FAIR

As an organization to help others, the Greene County Red Cross will have a first aid booth in the Arts Building at the Greene County Fair next week.

Health charts and charts showing the work of the Red Cross last year will be on display. The nurse wants to meet mothers of children inspected in the schools last year and the secretary will give information on the National Soldier's bonus and other Red Cross activities.

At 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. each day the nurse will give a demonstration on the care of the baby. A hospital bed and supplies will be ready to care for first aid. Twenty-eight cases were cared for at the Red Cross booth last year.

TRIAL OF DRUGGIST DELAYED TWO WEEKS

Trial of Charles Ridgeway, Cedarville druggist, which was to have come up in Probate Court Friday, has been postponed for two weeks.

Ridgeway was charged with violation of the dry laws after he was arrested on evidence obtained at the coroner's inquest into the death of William Kuekendall, in an automobile accident on the Columbus Pike two weeks ago.

Ridgeway is said to have sold Jamaica ginger—was granted a continuance through his attorney when it was learned he is ill and is taking treatment in New York.

Statue of George Rogers Clark is ready

The statue in commemoration of George Rogers Clark, who led the band of pioneers against the Indians in the vicinity now called Clark County, which will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies August 8, near Springfield, was executed by workmen of the Dadds Granite Company, of this city, at the large Dadds manufacturing plant at Milford, Mass.

The general contract for the execution of Sculptor Charles Keck's design and model was let to the Dadds company and the statue cut from the famous Victoria White granite because of its fine quality, even texture and adaptability.

The memorial is in the form of a heroic statue of General Clark showing in low relief on his one side, a pioneer frontiersman and on the other an Indian squatting and smoking in characteristic fashion. The design and model were prepared by Sculptor Charles Keck, of New York City, who has had general supervision of the project.

Plans are in readiness for the unveiling of the statue August 8, the anniversary date of the capture of Piqua by Clark and his band from the Indians.

The outcome of this battle gave to the United States the entire Northwest territory. Because of the fact that this battle, in its resultant effect, was one of the most important fought during the seven years of the Revolutionary war, the exercises assume national importance.

The battle site will be marked by the statue about five miles west of the present location of Springfield, just south of the National Highway.

President Calvin Coolidge has told the committee in charge of the arrangements in connection with the unveiling that he will be present at the ceremonies if other duties do not interfere. Governors and their staffs and other dignitaries from states embraced in the Northwest territory as well as Kentucky and Virginia will also be present. Officials and troops from the war department will participate together with the Ohio National Guard troops.

The monument, for which funds were appropriated by the state of Ohio, stands about twenty-five feet above the level of the surrounding country on the site it will be placed. The giant figure of Clark, nine feet in height, is the principal figure shown in the monument. Inscriptions in Gothic lettering are placed on both the front and rear of the large base which supports the monument and the seal of the State of Ohio, is on the left side with the seal of the United States on the right.

Thurston Ballard of Louisville, Ky., a grandson of Gen. Clark's sister, with his twin brother, R. C. Ballard Thurston, will be among the honor guests at the unveiling.

W. O. Thompson, president of the Ohio State University, will deliver the main address at the ceremonies.

DURANT TUBULAR BACKBONE CAUSE OF MUCH COMMENT

This is the day and age of unusual things. Before the war people went along with a certain evenness that almost bordered on monotony. However, great developments have come into the building of automobiles. Many new inventions have tended to make automobiles ride easier, make bodies and chassis stronger, motors more powerful and more economical. In fact, the automobile of yesterday will not even make a favorable comparison with its newer and more beautiful successor.

Probably no modern invention, pertaining to the automobile, is so useful and caused so much comment as the tubular backbone, which is an exclusive Durant patent. Dealers show a Star car running on three wheels. Can you imagine taking off one of the wheels from your automobile, starting the motor and drive right on? Any automobile that Durant builds will do it. This could just as well have been a Durant car as a Star car. The idea is simply to convey to the public the extraordinary strength that is built into Star and Durant cars.

Mr. Johnson of the Star and Durant Agency invites every one to call at their headquarters and inspect the Durant products.

TWO PICTURES OF SLAYERS OF YOUTH HUNG BY EVIDENCE

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Dr. William A. White, alienist, testified at the hearing of the case of Nathan Leopold and Richard Loeb for the murder of Robert Franks that Loeb planned the death of his companion, Leopold.

White said: "Loeb wanted to do away with Leopold because he felt that Leopold had no 'stomach' for criminalistic activities. Both boys had in mind possibility of killing the other member of the combination. In Leopold's mind the thought was not quite so strong. But in Loeb's mind the thought was much stronger and he interviewed another boy for the purpose of making him his partner in the event he found Leopold too dangerous to continue the partnership."

Witness further testified that Leopold and Loeb wanted to commit "the perfect crime" and that was their chief object in the murder of Robert Franks. White said he thought that Loeb did the actual slaying, in response to a question of State's Attorney Crowe as to whether he had any opinion of which of the boys struck the death blow.

Dr. White explained the mental characteristics of the young slayers at great length. He said Leopold believed earnestly in destruction from early childhood. "Murder, he told me once," Dr. White testified, "seemed a very small thing to him when weighed in the balance against his own pleasure. The only crime which he could commit was that of making an intellectual mistake."

Alienist's Story.

With the state's attorney fighting every step of the way, Dr. White went into a technical explanation of how alienists arrived at their conclusions through the medium of constant observation, questioning, noting the reactions and other forms. Environment has much to do with the actions of a person, and if the environment is not proper then the natural expectations of the patient may be aborted, the witness said.

"There are many desires that do not come true to reality," White said, "but are part of the inner life. We are interested in the 'inner life' of the patient, because we know that in this 'inner life' the patient has hopes, aspirations and desires which do not exist in reality, but which are none the less real."

"I found that Richard Loeb was not very well and was a weakling physically until he was 4 or 5 years old," Dr. White testified. "I got much of this information from Loeb himself. He told me of his governor, a Miss Struthers, who was a very rigid disciplinarian."

The object of Leopold and Loeb in killing Robert Franks was to commit the "perfect crime," Dr. White stated. He added that Loeb told him that he and Leopold had discussed committing a murder long before Franks was killed and had considered various persons, including their parents. "The real object in the murder was to commit the 'perfect crime,'" Dr. White said. "The idea was for the master criminal to do a good job. It was to be thoroughly and completely planned and be the object of great concern in the immediate vicinity. There was to be no clue. An intellectual feat was to be accomplished."

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

The entire economic greatness of North America has been built up by men who were willing to forego present comforts for the expectation of future gains.

In order to produce the capital necessary to finance industrial corporations, mines, or railways, some one must establish a surplus—fail to use as much as they produce. When a large number of people do this a great surplus is built up which may be used for new development. This development usually takes the form of producing things which will enable mankind to produce other things more easily, more swiftly, and more cheaply.

To build up an economic system of this sort a new country must either employ a foreign capital or go through a period of niggardly hardships in order to get operations. The United States used both methods when it was a new country. Canada has been largely helped by British capital, Russia is trying its people accumulate the capital—even though it is practically an international bankrupt. Russia gives a good example of the suffering and horror which must be endured when a nation tries to build up its surplus through the individual efforts of its own people in an impoverished (industrially impoverished) country.

TENNIS CHAMP IS BACK HOME

New York, Aug. 2.—Back from a "wonderful trip and winner of the Olympic tennis championship, Miss Helen Wills, American tennis champion had only one regret today and that was that she did not get to engage Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, French tennis star, on the courts.

"I am proud and glad over the outcome of my contest," said Miss Wills. "I saw Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen play one set at Wimbledon. My only regret of the entire trip was that I was unable to arrange a match with her."

RESERVES SET FOR HAMILTON TEAM SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon the Xenia Reserve baseball team will hook up with the fast Hamilton Triangles at Washington Park in a game that promises to be close and hard fought all the way.

The Butler county nine just recently defeated the Hamilton Clarks by a 7 to 4 count. The Clarks, it will be remembered, handed the local nine a trouncing by a 4 to 2 score in a fast and interesting game about a month ago. According to the dope the Triangles are a much better and faster ball club than the Clarks. Such being the case the Chambliss aggregation will have to step plenty fast in order to come out on the long end of the score.

The Reserves have had two hard practice sessions this week and all members claim they are fit for a grueling contest. The locals advanced eighteen more points in hitting giving them an average of .277 while their fielding dropped one point being .902 at the present. This seems to be the whole fault of the club. If their fielding could be a bit cleaner they would win lots more games. Of the six games lost by them this season over half of this number have been dropped by erratic handling of the ball. Despite this one bad fault the Reserves claim they are going to hand the Triangles the same dose they gave the Dayton Silents last week.

The Hamilton team a newly organized club having been in the field for about a month or so. Nevertheless they are one of Hamilton's best ball teams, there being two others in Hamilton. They are the Clippers and the Clarks. As was stated before they beat the Clarks but have not yet met the Clippers which by the way is a fast team and carving baseball history around Butler County and vicinity. They will lineup as follows: Hamilton—Sherlock, 1b; Pfanger, 2b; Hoffman, ss; Hage, 3b; R. Hoffman, lf; Zellner, cf; and Messner, rf. Turner will catch while Gardner or J. Sherlock will hurl.

The Reserves will lineup as follows: McDonnell or Cyphers will be on the firing line while Cain will be at initial catch. Schwab will take care of second. Leuey at short and Coy at third. P. Fuller, D. Fuller and Cooper will be in the gardens.

MERCHANTS TO BE BUSY WITH EATON OUTFIT

When the Xenia Merchants hook up with the Seitz and Frey base ball team, of Eaton Sunday afternoon at Dickerson Park, local fans may rest assured they will witness one of the best semi-pro teams of local baseball circles in action.

The Eaton team it will be remembered has already shown its wares in Xenia this season as the opponents of the fast Xenia Reserves, which team it took into camp by a close score.

The Merchants however, with such players as Long at third base and Carr at second, formerly of the C. M. I. club, expect to let the visitors down on the short end of the count Sunday. With the two hurlers, Asa Jones and Carl Lewis, in good shape, they expect to annex another victory to add to their already long winning streak.

The Seitz and Frey Club has been having good success on the diamond this season, only losing
